Developing Transatlantic Programmes

Chairman of the Board of Governors, Mr Michael Aldrich, chats with students from Ohio State University at a reception dinner held at the Professional Teachers' Centre. Faculty of Education, Sport and Leisure for the spring term. The faculty's US programmes have expanded rapidly over the past two years: US students are now received throughout the academic year and 27 Brighton students are currently studying in the USA. The next objective, says Programme Co-ordinator John Gaglione, is to develop the strong link built up with US universities by offering Summer School type modules at Masters level.
